Title:

Race Management

Subtitle:

Wind Limit for Racing in Heats

A submission from:

The French Sailing Federation (FRA)

Purpose or Objective

- Open a wider range of athlete weight to perform in the Class
- Having more balance racing between overpower and underpower racing
- Limit the importance of wight in the racing performance
- Preserve future development of the class by giving more athlete body type to be performant at international level

Proposal

Maximum wind limit for heats racing should not be more than 12 knots

Current Position

None

Reason

After 3 years of racing we have now a feedback of the overall needs to perform at international level. The importance of the body weight has been a concern to perform in term of speed with the overall iQFOiL package.

Several decisions have been made to limit the importance of body weight, including a race management that allows to race in marginal conditions but this is not enough to balance overpower and underpower racing.

The purpose of this submission is to limit the wind for overpower reaching start. By limiting overpower racing mode, this should achieve the goal of a wider panel of body weight to perform at international level.
